

Rich Bergemann

Rich Bergemann has been a UU for close to 50 years and has been associated with RRUUC for over 9 years. He has been a member of an RRUUC Men's Group during that time and did financial planning for last year's congregational retreat. Previously he was a member of the UU Congregation of Fairfax, where he was married, the UU Church of Arlington, and the Accotink UU Church, where his wife was Director of Religious Education. With 4 grown sons raised as UUs, Rich has an abiding interest in RE. Now retired, Rich is a physicist who supported the Federal government in various capacities throughout his career. He is particularly interested in implementing RRUUC's strategic plan to strengthen RRUUC's standing and influence in the local community and the Washington region.

Dan Glor

Dan Glor and his wife (Sue Schneider) have been attending RRUUC since 1995, and they value the friendships they have made here. Their children (Louisa and Andrew) went through the Religious Education (RE) program, and Dan taught RE for two years. He has helped out on Bazaar Day for many years, and before the pandemic, he performed on his saxophone annually at the Cabaret. Dan is also a member of four church-related small groups (men's group, circle supper, jazz listening, storytelling). Dan's passion and hobby is ballroom dancing, which began ten years ago at a class that took place at RRUUC.

Dan grew up in a small town south of Buffalo, NY, attended Harvard College and Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, did his internship and residency in Philadelphia, and a fellowship at the University of Maryland. He has worked as a neurologist for 34 years, the last 25 of which he spent at Kaiser Permanente. At Kaiser he was chairman of the Neurology Department for five years. Dan semi-retired on December 1, 2022, and he now practices medicine one day per week.

Mandy Wimmer-O'Brien

Mandy Wimmer-O'Brien and her two children, Elliot (10) and Amelie (7), have attended River Road since 2012. Mandy has served as a lay worship leader, on the Retreat Committee, the Racial Justice Task Force, the Leadership and Nominations Committee, and is currently a member of the Religious Education (RE) Committee, teaching in the K-2 RE class downstairs. She participated in and was transformed by Beloved Conversations, cohort 2.

Mandy grew up Presbyterian. A lifelong pianist, she played for the small UU congregation in her hometown of Decatur, IL, as a teen, which began her move toward identifying as UU. After college, she moved to Washington to pursue a career in politics, before shifting back to music. Mandy is a private piano instructor and was the founder/director of Tri Star Music in Petworth, DC until 2020. She lives in Takoma, DC with her lively kids and their recently adopted, long-haired kitty Sylvia.
